Tee Box Etiquette: Starting Smart, Playing Smooth

Key Concepts Covered

- Stand out of your playing partner's line of sight-either in front or behind them.
- If asked, stand behind them to help watch their ball, especially on holes with limited visibility.
- Always track where every ball lands-helping others find their ball is key to building goodwill.
- Avoid distractions during someone's swing-no talking, tee fiddling, or club tapping.
- Be ready when it's your turn-know your club, have a tee, and be prepared to go.
- If you're first to hit and the group ahead is slow, tee up your ball early, then socialize.
- You can tee the ball anywhere within two club lengths behind the tee markers-use this time wisely.

Pro Tips

- Nothing aggravates a group faster than noise or delay-respect earns trust.
- Helping track a partner's ball signals you're a team player, not just focused on your own shot.
- Efficient tee box behavior sets the tone for the entire round-move sharp, act sharp.
