Upward Strike Driver Launch Drill

Setup

Set the ball just inside your lead heel. Place a soft headcover or towel a few inches in front and slightly outside the target line. Drop your trail shoulder slightly lower than your lead.

Swing Cue

Swing through the ball with the feeling of launching it into the sky. Avoid hitting the headcover by striking up—not down and across. Let the loft do the work.

What to Notice

If you hit the towel or headcover, you're too steep. When done right, you'll launch the ball high with smooth, solid contact and a confident upward angle of attack.
